

Within its tradition of continuous improvement FILTREC renews its range of inline filters for pressure up to 420 bar, presenting the new F420-D1 series, replacing the former FD-1 series.

The new design joins compact external dimensions with a new internal geometry optimizing the pressure drop; the new by-pass valves have improved functional features.

The connection ports and options range is unchanged; the filter elements available for the F420-D1 are from the D1 series, according to the two most popular standards for this kind of application.

Please download the pdf of this new technical data sheet to know all the details of this new series.

<http://www.filtrec.it/en/inline-filters.html>

Please contact Filtrec Customer Service for any further information

Tel. +39 030.7241039

E-mail: info@filtrec.it

